Open Minds

Open Minds Discussions, 3rd Wednesday, beginning in August

The Social Justice Interest Group has made a commitment to renew the Open Minds series of discussions. Beginning on Wednesday, August 20, at 7 p.m. at the fellowship building, the group will host a monthly meeting each third Wednesday of the month to encourage exploration and discussion of social justice and related issues. The series will be open to the public.

We will start on August 20 with a discussion of the Move to Amend coalition's effort to end corporate personhood and declare that money is not speech. The discussion will be led by Vito Mastrangelo.

On Wednesday, September 17, at 7 p.m., Gail DeVilbiss will present "Bag It: is your life too plastic?"

In order for this series to succeed, we need your interest, help, and participation. Topics can include areas of economic justice, environmental justice, human rights, and civil liberties; anything in accordance with our seven principles. In accordance with the fellowship policy on political activity at the fellowship, programs shall be nonpartisan. We are interested in supporting informed participation in the democratic process.

Examples of specific topics that could be presented include Green Sanctuary, ethical eating, compassionate consumption, LGBTQ issues, immigration justice, human right to water. Topics related to this year's UUSC focus area of "Plant Seeds, Harvest Justice" (food sovereignty) include genetically modified seeds, sustainable gardening methods, cooperatives and farmers' markets, use of fossil fuels in the food chain.

If you are interested in presenting an Open Minds program, please talk with Donna Beaumont or Vito Mastrangelo to schedule a date. We would be glad to help with logistics. We look forward to some interesting discussions in coming months!

MVUU Fellowship in a Circle

Advancing human rights is the work of many joining hands

The UUSC Link

The Unitarian Universalist Service Committee is an independent human rights organization, supported through the volunteer efforts and financial gifts of its members and supporters, and linked to UU congregations through local representatives. The four focus areas of its work include: *Rights in Humanitarian Crises; Civil Liberties; Economic Justice; and Environmental Justice.

Mass water shutoffs in Detroit, Mich., are making news around the world. The Detroit Water and Sewerage Department has reported shutting off water to over 11,000 households in the past two months. As part of its continuing focus on the human right to water, UUSC has circulated this petition:

Water is not a luxury good. It is a basic human right due to all people, including low-income individuals and families.

As a person of conscience, I oppose water shutoffs that affect people who cannot afford to pay and whose family integrity and health are at great risk. It is morally wrong to shut off water to individuals and families, including infants, children, people living with disabilities, people who are chronically ill, and the elderly.

I respectfully call on Emergency Manager Kevyn D. Orr and Detroit Water and Sewerage Department Director Susan McCormick to immediately stop mass water shutoffs in Detroit and immediately restore water services to households at risk. I also request that they put into place protections for infants and children under six years of age, the elderly, chronically ill people, and those living with disabilities — all for whom a water shutoff is an extraordinary burden and risk to health and family

As of 7/18/14, nearly 6,000 people have signed on in protest of Detroit's mass water shutoffs, exceeding our goal of 5,000 signatures. UUSC will be delivering these signatures to Detroit's mayor, Water and Sewerage Department director, and emergency manager soon.

To learn more about UUSC, take a look at the Into Action bulletin board, visit the UUSC website at www.uusc.org or on Facebook, attend a meeting of the Social Justice Interest Group each second Sunday after social hour, and watch this space at UUMatters.
